

PAJAMA PARTY

photographer Frank Haxton, Digiman Photography

fashion stylist Isha Casagrande

art director Robyn McKenzie

Residents all over Reno are giving bed-head a good name. It's all in preparation for Pajama Fest 2008, the world's largest pajama party, which will take place on Saturday, Sept. 6, as part of The Great Reno Balloon Race.

In honor of the occasion, "Pajama Friday" has been in force since August, and you might be surprised to find out who's been getting in on the act! Reno Mayor Bob Cashell, Sparks Mayor Geno Martini, and their friends from The Great Reno Balloon Race have discovered that with pajamas this stylish – and this comfy – they may have a hard time giving up Pajama Fridays.

special thanks

Thanks to HomeCrafters for allowing us to have our pajama party in one of their beautiful model homes at Villagio della Montagna, in south Reno.

[L-R] Mayors Martini and Cashell are both sporting their Harbor Bay pajama bottoms with matching robes and sleep shirts from Casual Male XL. [Ginnie Kersey] Ginnie is wearing a Chinese-inspired 2-piece pajama set by Bed Head and DreamSacks 100% silk robe, both from Lounge. [Dave Zybert] Dave takes it easy in PJ Salvage pajama bottoms and a cotton sleep shirt from Lounge. [Pilar Aldecoaotalora] Pilar is wearing PJ Salvage pajamas and a terry-hoodie from Lounge. [Karen Nichols] Karen enjoys these luxurious Bed Head pajamas, which she's wearing under a DreamSacks soft cotton wrap, both from Lounge.

